

PEACE IS PROBABLE IN WAR-TORN IRELAND

BRITISH AND SINN
FEINERS DECLARE
TEMPORARY TRUCEAND NEGOTIATIONS ARE PRO-
CEEDING DIRECTED BY KING
GEORGEFIGHTING HAS STOPPED AND
BLACK AND TANS AND SINN
FEINERS FRATERNIZE(By United Press)
Dublin, July 9.—Black and Tans and Sinn Feiners fraternized in the streets of Dublin today. Although the British-Irish truce was not effective until Monday noon, there has been a virtual cessation of fighting since arrangements for an armistice have been perfected.

British military patrols were withdrawn today. Barred cars ceased trundling through the streets today and had retired to their "stables." Constables walked their beats with no fear of being fired on.

Irish republican leaders in uniform were not molested. Black and Tans were chatting with Sinn Feiners. Neither were armed. On every side there appeared genuine efforts at conciliation, and it is believed by many that the Macready-Collins truce is the first real step to a solution of the Irish question.

HOSTILITIES DYING DOWN

Dublin, July 9.—Peace is settling over Ireland today for the first time since the Easter rebellion of 1916. Hostilities are dying down under the truce signed by Sinn Feiners and the government. The Sinn Feiners are understood to have cancelled all attack on the British and the British are understood to have shown a reciprocal spirit and cancelled all reprisals.

KING GUIDES NEGOTIATIONS

(By ED L. KEENE,
(United Press Staff Correspondent).
London, July 9.—King George continued to guide Irish peace negotiations today. He conferred with Lord Middleton, leader of the Unionists, on the armistice drawn. Lord Middleton gave the king a full account of all that had occurred.

"We have managed to bridge all difficulties and probably solved the situation at last," said Lord Middleton.

London, July 8.—A truce has been declared between England and Ireland. It will take effect at noon on Monday next. Preparations are already under way to end the hostilities between the crown forces and those actively engaged in the Irish cause.

Developments leading to the truce were divided between London and Dublin. In Dublin, Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader, and his Nationalist associates, renewed their conference with the southern Unionists. Earl Middleton, a Unionist who recently conferred with the British prime minister, had a letter from Lloyd George to the effect that hostilities must cease if negotiations looking to peace were to succeed.

General Sir Nevil MacReady, British military commander in Ireland, appeared at the De Valera conference and it was not many hours later that that announcement was made to the prime minister's official residence in London, that in accordance with the premier's offer and Mr. De Valera's reply, arrangements were going forward for the cessation of hostilities from Monday noon.

Rolling Mill Plants
Are Closing, Pending
Wage Agreements

Columbus, O., July 9.—A conference between rolling mill operators and iron and steel operators as plants begin closing is in session here. Efforts are being made to agree upon working conditions and wages. The operators are handicapped on the wage question because of the business depression. Rolling mills at Middletown closed today, and the Wheeling corporation also shut down today.

Soldier Bonus Bill
Must Be Stopped
In Senate If At All(By L. C. MARTIN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent).
Washington, July 9.—The soldier bonus bill must be stopped in the senate if it is stopped at all, seems to be the consensus of opinion in Washington.

Some heed is being taken to President Harding's request that it be delayed. The warning from executive quarters found republican leaders hard at work on a canvass of members.

Forty republican senators have been heard from who are supporters of President Harding's program to recommit the bonus.

Seventeen republican senators are either opposed to some feature of the program, or are doubtful, or absent.

Six democrats are in favor of recommitment.

Three democrats are opposed to recommitment.

Twenty nine democrats are either unpledged, or doubtful, or absent.

Two Children
Are Kidnaped

Lewis, Del., July 9.—During kidnapers, who stole two children from their home in New Jersey, are believed to be hiding in lower Delaware. Missing are Marguerite Woodland, aged 3, and Jack Woodland, age 2, of Philadelphia. They were taken from their home and then transferred to a yacht and a man, woman and two children answering the description of those kidnaped are believed to have landed here.

The kidnaping may revolve about the estrangement of their mother from her husband, Robert, which occurred eighteen months ago. Two people giving their names as Mr. and Mrs. James had forced their acquaintance on Mrs. Woodland two months ago, and she believes they may have been engaged to kidnap her little ones.

America Continues
"Open Door" Policy

Washington, July 9.—Foreign governments today received an indication as to America's position and stand in Far eastern world affairs, as revealed in a note of Secretary of State Hughes addressed to the Chinese government. America continues the "open door" status on the Pacific. The answer followed the inquiry of the Chinese as to whether the United States was to discontinue supporting the rights accruing to the Federal Telegraph company in a contract with the Chinese government. Protest was made by Denmark, Great Britain and Japan.

Condemned By Father's Bones(By CHARLES ERWARD HOGUE,
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

Shanghai, (By Mail).—Condemned to death on the mute testimony of the skeleton of his step-father, Chang Kan-sz is at the arsenal here today awaiting execution by a firing squad. The man's trial involved the revival of an ancient Chinese superstition that led to his confession of guilt.

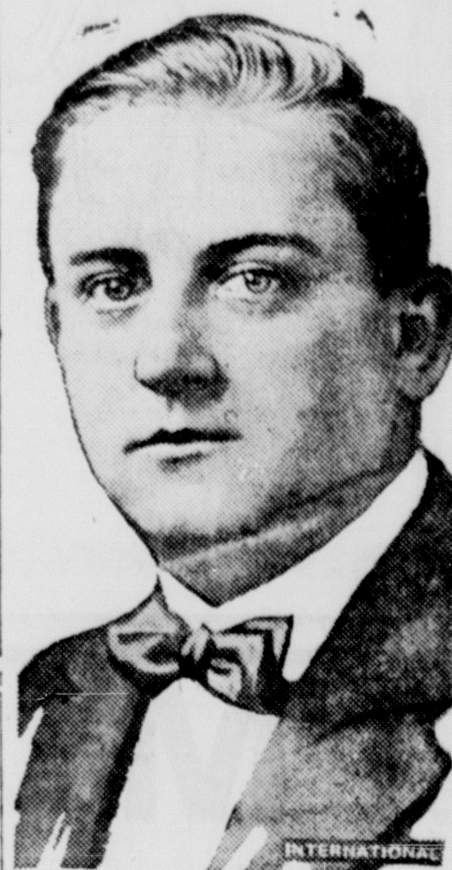

It has long been the belief of the Chinese that the body of a person who has been poisoned will not decompose after burial. Also that when the flesh has been removed and the skeleton of a poison victim is boiled the bones will show a discoloration indicating the manner of death.

Chang was accused of poisoning his step-father thirteen months ago. He denied the charge and the authorities ordered the body exhumed. After thirteen months burial the body was in a state of perfect preservation. Chinese sages were called into consultation, the skeleton was removed from the flesh and boiled. It turned bluish black.

The skeleton was carefully arranged in normal position and Chang was called in to view it. When he saw the color of the bones he broke down and confessed.

While Chang was being led to the arsenal the bones of his father, carefully arranged as in life, were placed in a coffin and returned to their grave in Pootung.

$15,000,000 RUMORED(By United Press)
Springfield, Ill., July 9.—Stories of grafting big funds as high as fifteen million dollars rocked political circles as alleged frauds were to be barred before the grand jury.

Edward Brundage, state attorney, started his investigations back to 1915. The grand jury is to investigate the actions of former treasurer Len Small, now governor, Fred E. Stirling, now lieutenant governor, and Andrew Russell, state auditor. Charges of corruption, of attempted bribery, are to be aired.

Superior Man Disappears
Pal Is Arrested And Jailed(By United Press)
Superior, Wis., July 9.—Henry Blumberg, 48, is in jail while friends are making a wide search for John Masonen who disappeared on July 4th. Some believe that his body will be found on the Twin City road. Masonen had $300 cash and a gold watch when last seen with Blumberg. The claim is made that Blumberg pawned Masonen's watch.

Blumberg's story is that he and Masonen got a taxi for Minneapolis, and that when he came to he was lying alone in the woods.

Action Started
To Contest Election
Of Mayor Leach(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 9.—Action to annul the election of George E. Leach, mayor of Minneapolis who recently defeated Thomas Van Lear, has been started in Hennepin county district court. Suit was started by S. A. Stockwell, former senator, and 40 co-signers. Affidavits were in evidence that Leach had charged Van Lear with referring to the "American flag as a dirty rag," and stated Van Lear had made no such statement. The charge is made that Leach violated the corrupt practice act.Immediate Payment

THEIR PRESIDENT UNDER
INDUSTRIAL ACT(By United Press)
Columbus, Kans., July 9.—Kansas lost 600,000 tons of coal since his conviction for violating the Kansas industrial law, because miners have been idle as a protest against the jury's verdict in the Howatt case, said the chief figure in the industrial court litigation. Howatt said he would also make an effort to form a new political party to get justice and would appeal to farmers and labor men to join his standard.Man Struggled All
Day In Mud Hole(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 9.—This is the story of a man who fell in a mudhole and wiggled around all day until a street car conductor fished him out. Adolph Tesmar fought all day in a mudhole at Minnetonka lake, sinking deeper in the burning sun while mosquitoes chewed him up.

J. H. Wollmar, a conductor of the Minnetonka line, first saw him early in the morning. Later he saw him again with only his head visible. Conductor and passengers rescued Tesmar. His condition is critical and he can give no account as to how he fell into the mudhole.

Springfield, Ill., July 9.—One of the bitterest factional fights between high state officials is in progress here. The Sangamon county grand jury meets Monday next to investigate charges that certain high officials withheld public money while occupying public office.Democrats Start
Attack on Tariff Bill(By United Press)
Washington, July 9.—The democratic attack on the tariff bill started on the floor of the house today. Representative Garner of Texas, ranking member of the ways and means committee, opened the second day's debate with the charge that the tariff bill was framed to favor the big interests.

The tariff bill is drawing up special rules for the tariff, closing certain parts to permit amendments and setting July 21 as the date for taking a vote.

Republicans are assured that when a vote is reached, the democratic objections will be shelved.

Treaty Control
Or Europe Is
Coming Back(By CLYDE A. BEALS,
(Written for the United Press).
London, July 9.—The old treatyfied Europe in a more extreme form, though possibly under much more favorable circumstances, is being rapidly restored. The outlet for the adjustment of territorial disputes by the League of Nations, however may render "local adjustments" practical and failing anything better, even desirable.

The sponsor of the amendment to Article XXI of the league covenant, recognizing and encouraging local applications of the broad principles laid down by the league, Dr. Benes, the Czechoslovakian foreign minister, is also one of the moving spirits in the Little Entente. In an interview he discussed for the United Press the effect of the amendment and of the Little Entente on the peace of Central Europe.

"The amendment is an important addition, I believe," he said, "to the League of Nations covenant. There are many local problems that, for the league to attempt to settle, would provide endless complications. This amendment will provide for their settlement on the principles of the covenant by the nations concerned."

"The Little Entente, consisting of at present Yugoslavia, Roumania and Czechoslovakia, comes within the meaning of this amendment. It is designed to promote economic adjustments."

Our nations have gained our independence at a great cost and we mean to see that nothing upsets it. We have arranged treaties requiring military support in a case of a member of the Little Entente is attacked or in cases where the peace of Central Europe is jeopardized. We want to prevent war from breaking out.

"Because Czechoslovakia has refused to enter into a Danubian confederation, which is supposed to be able to bring about peace in Central Europe, we have been accused of seeking to keep Austria and Hungary beggared. I have opposed the Danube confederation. It is not wanted. If we formed the Danubian confederation without the other powers, we should be outnumbered two to one, which would not be bad but for the fact that both Austria and Hungary are so strongly influenced by Germany. It would amount practically to a reestablishment of Mittel Europa. This we simply cannot tolerate an Austro-German union."

"Austria's condition, even without any alliance is improving. She has plenty of coal. Her chief difficulty is to get capital invested in her industries."

"Central Europe and Austria especially, has been the victim both of internal economic depression and worldwide depression. Within six months the worldwide depression will show a great improvement which will automatically aid Central Europe."

The scheme was broken up when a policeman arrested four, ranging in age from ten to twelve.All Italy To Pay
Honor to Noted Poet(By HENRY WOOD,
(United Press Staff Correspondent).
Rome, July 9.—For the next three months all Italy will participate in various celebrations in honor of the six hundredth anniversary of the death of Dante, and which will culminate in special celebrations during September.

Rome, Florence and Ravenna, especially have just announced their programs for September that are to mark the highest tribute which Italy can pay to her greatest poet.

Weeks and even months before then various other celebrations will have taken place.

Of the three cities that are to render especial homage to Dante in September, Ravenna will get her program started first on September 11th. On that day will occur the inauguration of the new national tomb to Dante, and the consignment and dedication of the bronze and silver wreaths offered by the Italian army; of the bells offered by the various Italian municipalities and finally of the bronze door of the tomb offered by the city of Rome.

On Sept. 15 the celebration will be resumed at Florence.

On September 19th, the Rome city council will name one of its leading streets "Via Dante Alighieri" and will make the formal presentation of the bronze door to the tomb of Dante at Ravenna which will be donated by the City of Rome. Remembrance will also be made of the fact that Rome participated with the other Italian communities in the casting of the chimera for the new Dante tomb.

THEIR PRESIDENT UNDER
INDUSTRIAL ACT(By United Press)
Columbus, Kans., July 9.—Kansas lost 600,000 tons of coal since his conviction for violating the Kansas industrial law, because miners have been idle as a protest against the jury's verdict in the Howatt case, said the chief figure in the industrial court litigation. Howatt said he would also make an effort to form a new political party to get justice and would appeal to farmers and labor men to join his standard.Man Struggled All
Day In Mud Hole(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 9.—This is the story of a man who fell in a mudhole and wiggled around all day until a street car conductor fished him out. Adolph Tesmar fought all day in a mudhole at Minnetonka lake, sinking deeper in the burning sun while mosquitoes chewed him up.
J. H. Wollmar, a conductor of the Minnetonka line, first saw him early in the morning. Later he saw him again with only his head visible. Conductor and passengers rescued Tesmar. His condition is critical and he can give no account as to how he fell into the mudhole.Factional Fight

Springfield, Ill., July 9.—One of the bitterest factional fights between high state officials is in progress here. The Sangamon county grand jury meets Monday next to investigate charges that certain high officials withheld public money while occupying public office.Democrats Start
Attack on Tariff Bill(By United Press)
Washington, July 9.—The democratic attack on the tariff bill started on the floor of the house today. Representative Garner of Texas, ranking member of the ways and means committee, opened the second day's debate with the charge that the tariff bill was framed to favor the big interests.
The tariff committee is drawing up special rules for the tariff hearings, closing certain parts to public attendance and setting July 21 as the date for taking a vote.
Republicans are assured that when a vote is reached, the democratic objections will be shelved.Treaty Control
Or Europe Is
Coming Back(By CLYDE A. BEALS,
Written for the United Press)
London, July 9.—The old treatyfied Europe in a more extreme form, though possibly under much more favorable circumstances, is being rapidly restored. The outlet for the adjustment of territorial disputes by the League of Nations, however may render "local adjustments" practical and failing anything better, even desirable.

The sponsor of the amendment to Article XXI of the league covenant, recognizing and encouraging local applications of the broad principles laid down by the league, Dr. Benes, the Czechoslovakian foreign minister, is also one of the moving spirits in the Little Entente. In an interview he discussed for the United Press the effect of the amendment and of the Little Entente on the peace of Central Europe.

"The amendment is an important addition, I believe," he said, "to the League of Nations covenant. There are many local problems that, for the league to attempt to settle, would provide endless complications. This amendment will provide for their settlement on the principles of the covenant by the nations concerned."

"The Little Entente, consisting of present Yugoslavia, Roumania and Czechoslovakia, comes within the meaning of this amendment. It is designed to promote economic adjustments."

Our nations have gained our independence at a great cost and we mean to see that nothing upsets it. We have arranged treaties requiring military support in a case of a member of the Little Entente is attacked or in cases where the peace of Central Europe is prejudiced. We want to prevent war from breaking out.

"Because Czechoslovakia has refused to enter into a Danubian confederation, which is supposed to be able to bring about peace in Central Europe, we have been accused of seeking to keep Austria and Hungary beggared. I have opposed the Danube confederation. It is not wanted. If we formed the Danubian confederation without the other powers, we should be outnumbered two to one, which would not be bad but for the fact that both Austria and Hungary are so strongly influenced by Germany. It would amount practically to a reestablishment of Mittel Europa. This we simply cannot tolerate an Austro-German union."

"Austria's condition, even without any alliance is improving. She has plenty of coal. Her chief difficulty is to get capital invested in her industries."

"Central Europe and Austria especially, has been the victim both of internal economic depression and worldwide depression. Within six months the worldwide depression will show a great improvement which will automatically aid Central Europe."

LOCKED IN VAULT(By United Press)
Clearing, Ill., July 9.—Six bandits held up the State bank here and robbed the institution of $15,000 in cash and bonds. Three officials and two customers were locked in the vault. The Chicago shotgun squad was summoned and chased the bandits, catching up to them at Lamont and engaging in a running battle with cars tearing along at 70 miles an hour speed. Martin Sicks, well known figure of Chicago's underworld, was captured. The rest of the band slipped into a stone quarry and escaped.

The scheme was broken up when a policeman arrested four, ranging in age from ten to twelve.All Italy To Pay
Honor to Noted Poet(By HENRY WOOD,
United Press Staff Correspondent)
Rome, July 9.—For the next three months all Italy will participate in various celebrations in honor of the six hundredth anniversary of the death of Dante, and which will culminate in special celebrations during September.

Rome, Florence and Ravenna, especially have just announced their programs for September that are to mark the highest tribute which Italy can pay to her greatest poet.

Weeks and even months before then various other celebrations will have taken place.
Of the three cities that are to render especial homage to Dante in September, Ravenna will get her program started first on September 11th. On that day will occur the inauguration of the new national tomb to Dante, and the consignment and dedication of the bronze and silver wreaths offered by the various Italian municipalities and finally of the bronze door of the tomb offered by the city of Rome.

On Sept. 15 the celebration will be resumed at Florence.

On September 19th, the Rome city council will name one of its leading streets "Via Dante Alighieri" and will make the formal presentation of the bronze door to the tomb of Dante at Ravenna which will be donated by the City of Rome. Remembrance will also be made of the fact that Rome participated with the other Italian communities in the casting of the chimera for the new Dante tomb.

Jap Labor, Hungry,
Is Now Radical

By HENRY W. KINNEY,
 (United Press Staff Correspondent)
 Tokyo (By Mail).—The Japanese laborer no longer enjoys the opportunity to make his voice felt, which was his during the golden days of the boom war years, when the supply of labor fell short of the demand. As the army of unemployed increases, the man with a job is willing to sing very small for fear that he may be dismissed. The result has been that whereas strikes recently were common, but very little is heard of such today.

On the other hand, the workmen, realizing their powerlessness, have grown bitter, and while the unions are losing in membership, owing largely to inability to pay even their modest dues, the organizations which survive are getting closer together and are becoming more radical in their views.

"The laborers are becoming more and more in favor of direct action," says M. Suzuki, the leader of the Japanese federation of labor. Personally Suzuki is against this, and as a result it is reported that he will soon cease to be the leader, while some one else who is more in harmony with the radical element, will take his place. The police are resorting to their usual tactics of suppressing anti-capitalistic speech wherever it crops up. A recent meeting in Tokyo, wherein workmen attacked the moneyed classes and demanded their "rights," resulted in several arrests, and the leaders of the various labor societies are known to be closely watched.

In the meantime the laborers are getting closer together, making common cause in times of adversity. Thus the various associations of seamen of various classes recently formed a great union uniting the scattered organizations and it seems quite likely that the workmen will emerge from their period of adversity stronger and more determined than they were before.

Expert Says Boys Are Best Immigrants

(By United Press)
 Winnipeg, Man., July 9.—Boys make the best immigrants, according to T. E. Sedgwick of London who is in Canada to find farm homes for boys from English cities.

Sedgwick has been engaged in finding farm homes for English city boys in the colonies of the British empire since 1909. As a result of a personal visit to New Zealand, fifty farmers there agreed to take English boys to bring up on their farms. The boys were apprenticed to the farmers for three years. Their pay for the three years was deposited in a bank and at the end of their apprenticeship was turned over to them with the expense of their voyage deducted. The ages of the boys ranged from 16 to 20 years. The success of this experiment led to the establishment of several thousand English boys on farm homes in Australia. Three thousand boys were placed in Victoria, 1,500 in New South Wales, 300 in South Australia and several hundred in Queensland.

"Boys," said Sedgwick, "are splendid advertisements. Their letters home exploit the attractions of their adopted country in glowing terms. They are more adaptable than adults. They absorb the traditions and customs of a new country. They usually marry a woman of the country and often they bring out their parents and relatives to settle in the same neighborhood."

Sedgwick will endeavor to find homes for several hundred English boys among the farmers in the country of diversified agriculture in Canada.

WARRIORS MEET
TWO SECRETARIES

ARMY AND NAVY CLUB GIVES A RECEPTION IN HONOR OF WEEKS AND DENBY.

IS A PICTURESQUE AFFAIR

General Miles, There in New Uniform of Old Type, and General Pershing Wearing Sam Brown Belt Forbidden to Others.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Society affairs in Washington generally are intrusted for review, description and gentle comment to the care of the woman writers, but occasionally a man dares to enter the field, pen in hand, and to take his chances, taking due precaution to dodge anything resembling an attempt to describe the gowns of members of the superior sex.

Winter in Washington usually is the reserved season for semi-official receptions, but there has just been given in the capital an affair which seems worthy from a picturesque viewpoint, and also the importance viewpoint perhaps, of a few words in delineation thereof. The members of the Army and Navy club have just given a reception in honor of the two chiefs of the service, the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy, John W. Weeks and Edwin Denby.

The invitations to the affair were limited to the actual members of the club and to the adult women members of their families. The reception was given for the purpose of bringing the two secretaries into at least passing acquaintance touch with the army and navy officers in Washington whom in a sense they command, and to allow the wife of each secretary to meet the wives and daughters of the service men.

The Army and Navy club is a prosperous club and in a way a most picturesque club. It has in its keeping hundreds upon hundreds of flags, portraits and material which are of historic interest because of their association with the wars in which the republic has been engaged. When one enters the club on a gala occasion he can have no doubt as to the nature of the organization.

Great Gathering of Warriors.

At the reception the other night there were gathered hundreds of men, nearly every one of whom had a story which he could tell if he only would tell it. There were present veterans of the war between the states, the Indian wars, the Spanish-American war, and the great war. There were active officers, reserve officers, and retired officers. The reserves and the retired ones got back into uniform for the occasion.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles, 81 years old, was in the column which passed in hand-shaking review before the secretaries. General Miles was a striking figure. The years have paid little attention to him as they have passed by. He is sturdy today, although he is eleven years beyond the Psalmist's allotted limit of life. He wore the full dress uniform of a Lieutenant general of the army, the old type of uniform, but a new uniform nevertheless. It was a swallow-tailed blue coat with brass buttons and with coiled gold shoulder knots. There were a white waistcoat and a broad expanse of white shirt bosom to offset the dark blue of the dress coat. In the upper left hand button hole was the little ribbon denoting that this old soldier had received from congress the highest honor in its gift, the Medal of Honor for conspicuous personal gallantry in battle.

There was one captain in the line who for years has been upon the retired list. He is fairly old in years, but youthful in looks and bearing—Capt. Robert Carter. Years ago he was badly wounded in a fight with the Indians on the plains, and was retired because of disability incurred in the line of duty. There were some general officers at the reception who in all their long careers have had less of war's buffetings than this man still a captain.

Pershing Wears Sam Brown Belt.

Gen. John J. Pershing, ranking officer of the U. S. army, was present wearing his Sam Brown belt which no other officer of the army serving anywhere except in Europe may wear without incurring reproof for violation of the regulations.

During the great war an order was issued that American army officers should wear the Sam Brown belt serving with the American Expeditionary Forces, but that no officer in the United States should buckle one about him. Gen. Pershing, however, by virtue of his position as the general of the army of the United States, prescribes his own uniform. He still wears the Sam Brown belt and the hint is that within a few days an order may be issued which will give to American officers everywhere the right to wear the belt, which is a comfortable "harness" and which gives a better effect to the olive drab uniform of the service.

The Army and Navy club does things in a somewhat striking way. In the great lounge, as it is called, where the two secretaries stood to receive the guests, only one portrait was displayed from the walls—that of George Washington, the first President

The reception was given for the purpose of bringing the two secretaries into at least passing acquaintance with the army and navy officers in Washington whom in a sense they command, and to allow the wife of each secretary to meet the wives and daughters of the service men.

The Army and Navy club is a prosperous club and in a way a most picturesque club. It has in its keeping hundreds upon hundreds of flags, portraits and material which are of historic interest because of their association with the wars in which the republic has been engaged. When one enters the club on a gala occasion he can have no doubt as to the nature of the organization.

Great Gathering of Warriors.

At the reception the other night there were gathered hundreds of men, nearly every one of whom had a story which he could tell if he only would tell it. There were present veterans of the war between the states, the Indian wars, the Spanish-American war, and the great war. There were active officers, reserve officers, and retired officers. The reserves and the retired ones got back into uniform for the occasion.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles, 81 years old, was in the column which passed in hand-shaking review before the secretaries. General Miles was a striking figure. The years have paid little attention to him as they have passed by. He is sturdy today, although he is eleven years beyond the Psalmist's allotted limit of life. He wore the full dress uniform of a lieutenant general of the army, the old type of uniform, but a new uniform nevertheless. It was a swallow-tailed blue coat with brass buttons and with coiled gold shoulder knots. There were a white waistcoat and a broad expanse of white shirt bosom to offset the dark blue of the dress coat. In the upper left hand button hole was the little ribbon denoting that this old soldier had received from congress the highest honor in his gift, the Medal of Honor for conspicuous personal gallantry in battle.

There was one captain in the line who for years has been upon the retired list. He is fairly old in years, but youthful in looks and bearing—Capt. Robert Carter. Years ago he was badly wounded in a fight with the Indians on the plains, and was retired because of disability incurred in the line of duty. There were some general officers at the reception who in all their long careers have had less of war's buffetings than this man still a captain.

Pershing Wears Sam Brown Belt.
Gen. John J. Pershing, ranking officer of the U. S. army, was present wearing his Sam Brown belt which no other officer of the army serving anywhere except in Europe may wear without incurring reproof for violation of the regulations.

During the great war an order was issued that American army officers should wear the Sam Brown belt serving with the American Expeditionary Forces, but that no officer in the United States should buckle one about him. Gen. Pershing, however, by virtue of his position as the general of the army of the United States, prescribes his own uniform. He still wears the Sam Brown belt and the hint is that within a few days an order may be issued which will give to American officers everywhere the right to wear the belt, which is a comfortable "harness" and which gives a better effect to the olive drab uniform of the service.

The Army and Navy club does things in a somewhat striking way. In the great lounge, as it is called, where the two secretaries stood to receive the guests, only one portrait was displayed from the walls—that of George Washington, the first President

ALL SET FOR THE CONVENTION

Minnesota Game Protective League
Will Bring Enormous Crowd to Brainerd and Gull Lake

COMMITTEES REPORT O. K.

Fish Fry Will Take 1800 Pounds
Pike, Forty Bushels Potatoes,
Tons of Ice for Tea, Etc.

There was a roundup of committees of the Crow Wing Game Fish & Bird Protective League at the Woodhead Motor Co. garage reporting for the state convention at Rocky Point, July 14, 15, 16 and 17. Eight committees reported and indicated all things entrusted to them were in apple pie order and that every committee man was on his toes ready for the word "Go" to do what he had been asked to do. And there are all kinds of committees from bait casting to fish fries, trap shooting, dancing, reception, music, boats, parking cars, public safety, etc., etc.

Indian Reservation
Twenty cars and two large trucks will leave for Mille Lacs lake Sunday to convey the Indian encampment from that lake to Rocky Point, Gull lake.

Brainerd Municipal Band
The Brainerd Municipal band has been engaged for two days and will be used further if the committee sees its way clear to do so.

Two Roads Used
Two roads will be used for the big outdoor convention. Driving out take the regular road past Grand View Lodge and on to Rocky Point. On the way bank to Brainerd use the road which traverses the north end of the lake by way of Nisswa. This will make two streams of traffic and do away with any trouble on narrow road sections which would occur if only one roadway was used.

Wireless Station
A wireless station of great power and capable of sending messages to the Twin Cities and beyond is being installed at Rocky Point.

Ask Unions to Assist
A committee of union men of the local sportsmen was appointed to see what the unions of the city will do in cooperating with the convention.

10,000 Visitors Coming
From correspondence received it is estimated there will be an attendance of 10,000 visitors at the outdoor convention, and preparations are being made accordingly.

The Big Fish Fry
Under Andrew A. Gierlet's supervision immense fish fries will be staged. He will accumulate 1,800 pounds of cleaned pike, forty bushels of potatoes, bushels and bushels of baked beans, enormous stores of onions and radishes, several cords of bread, lots of butter, etc. Here is the menu he will offer, baked white fish, French fried potatoes, baked beans, onions, radishes, bread and butter, coffee or iced tea. Fifty cents will be charged for lunch, and if a first helping is not sufficient, come back for a second. Three chefs will assist the master chef, Andrew A. Gierlet. "And" is not going into the fry business blind, but is well experienced from his roughing it at the French front during the late world war, where he showed remarkable aptitude in adapting himself to all conditions.

New Boat Docks
New boat docks capable of handling many passengers have been built at Mud Lake. People will be carried across Gull lake every twenty minutes. This dock is located 12 miles from Brainerd on the Gull lake road. It will enable summer resorters and others to easily get to Rocky Point. Three motor boats will be in service. Cars may be parked near the dock.

Pogram Books
The program books are off the Dispatch presses and are being distributed. They are such fine products of the lake region, giving scores of pictures of hunting, fishing, bathing, boating, etc., and carry such a world of information about game and fishing, that each book is being carefully preserved by its owner as a souvenir of the greatest outdoor convention ever held in Minnesota.

Moving Pictures
The committee has received the moving pictures showing animal, bird and fish life. They will be shown on various convention days.

Array of Speakers
The array of speakers embraces men thoroughly equipped from a scholarly and practical standpoint to speak on the various topics of fish, game and bird life. In many cases they are fish and game commissioners from the various states and each man will present a live message.

Origin of Malignant
In accordance with the ancient Jewish ritual, on the Day of Atonement the chief priest symbolically laid the sins of the people on a goat and sent it out into the wilderness.

AN APPRECIATION

Of Mrs. R. K. Whiteley, Who Recently
Passed Away in Brainerd, Comes
From a Former Home

(Jacksonville, Ill., Daily Journal)
Word has been received of the death of Mr. R. K. Whiteley, eldest child of late Prof. and Mrs. Samuel Adams, and sister of Mrs. J. P. Lippincott, which occurred on the morning of July 1 at Brainerd, Minnesota. Few remember Mrs. Whiteley as a member of society in Jacksonville, where she grew from childhood to maturity and where she was married September 26, 1868.

Her taste, information and appreciation may be somewhat suggested by the remark made to the writer by the late Timothy Eames, father of the one time editor and owner of The Journal. It was on the occasion of a public exhibition by home talent, consisting of tableaux, living statuary and the like. The exhibition seemed to the writer to be simply wonderful as a display of ingenuity, taste and chaste beauty, deserving the term classic. Mr. Eames admitted that it was good, but stated that it did not compare for exquisite taste and skill with productions of a similar sort staged during the war. "Why, when Marietta Adams (and others whom I did not know and do not recall) were here, they had real taste and skill and were fine."

Mrs. Whiteley imbibed much of the poetic taste and linguistic aptitude of her father, Prof. Samuel Adams, the rare social grace of her mother, and shared with her gifted brother, Capt. Franklin Adams a very prominent place in cultured society of their day.

Johnson-Gustafson

Miss Lillie Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Johnson of Pillager and Guy L. Gustafson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gustafson, were quietly married at Brainerd Thursday afternoon, June 30th. They will make their home in Pillager where Mr. Gustafson has recently completed a fine little home. Both are well known young people whose many friends will be glad to extend heartiest congratulations.—Pillager Herald.

MARKHAM EXPLAINS AUTO DIMMER LAW

ANYTHING, EVEN PAINT, THAT
CUTS OFF GLARE, IS ENOUGH
SAYS ATTY. GENERAL'S AID

An automobile headlight, as defined by the 1921 legislature, does not require that the lamp be equipped with ground glass, James E. Markham, assistant attorney general, held today in an opinion given to H. R. Olander of Deerwood, Minn. In some parts of the state, the story has gained circulation that the legislature had made such requirements and that only the lenses made by certain manufacturers would meet the requirements of the law.

Must Deflect Light

Mr. Markham quotes the law, Chapter 472, of the laws of 1921, which requires that a headlight must throw a light sufficient to make nearly discernible an object 200 feet away in the direction in which the motor vehicle is being driven and that the rays of light must be so bent or deflected that none of the rays rise above the level of the filament. The law requires that where the lamp is so constructed that some rays rise above the filament level, the upper portion of the lens must be so ground or obscured that the light above the filament level shall be free from brilliant luster.

"The definition is not a happy one," Mr. Markham writes, "and its meaning is not very clear but it does not mean that the only lamp which will comply with the requirement is one that is constructed out of ground glass."

Way to do it Not Defined

"The point is that where a headlight is used, the construction of which is such that a portion of the rays of light are thrown upward above the filament level, then some method must be employed by which the light is so obscured that it will not 'blind' a driver of another vehicle coming from the opposite direction. This rather homely definition ought to make the matter clear."

The painting of a part of the lens is sufficient if it meets these requirements.

Had Him Guessing.

"It is a question in my mind," remarked the dentist who had got up from a warm bed to respond to a cry from his baby, "if a fellow makes most noise when his teeth are coming, or when they are going"—Yonkers Statesman.

A feature of the morning hour will be an exhibit of some of the work done in the summer school arranged for inspection for those who are interested in this work.
The mid-week service on Thursday at 8 p. m. is growing in interest and numbers.

Maloney-Miller
Cards are out announcing the marriage of Frederick J. Miller, one to Cass county's most successful young attorneys. Mr. Miller is located at Pine River, and has practiced law there for the past several years. He enlisted in the army at the outbreak of the war going in as a private and coming out as a captain. The bride was Miss Veronica Maloney, of Sauk Center, and the wedding took place at the church of "Our Lady of Angels" at that place Wednesday, June 29. The happy couple will be at home at Pine River after August 1.

Williver-Olson
The marriage of Miss Lillian M. Williver and John M. Olson was solemnized Tuesday evening at the parsonage of the St. Francis Catholic church, Rev. Father James Hogan officiated.
The bride wore a blue suit with a hat to match. Miss Irene Handran of Duluth acted as bridesmaid, she wore a Harding blue suit with hat to match.
The groom was attended by Otto Hubbard.
Mr. and Mrs. Olson will be at home, to their friends, in St. Paul after August 1.

On Sunday, July 17, Rev. E. R. Rasmussen of Minneapolis will preach morning and evening.

The Rev. Arthur C. Smith will begin his vacation for the month of July with Mrs. Smith and their son Calvin Arthur who will drive East as far as Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Smith preaches in the First Baptist church, St. Paul on the 10th and in Cleveland, Ohio on the 24th in the First Baptist church in the pulpit where he was ordained.

First Methodist Church
(A cool place to worship).
Services in the Methodist church are arranged so as to avoid the extreme heat of the day. The morning service with sermon by the pastor E. A. Cooke will be held at 10 o'clock. This service will be concluded a few minutes after 11 o'clock. The church school will hold its session at 11:15 and close at 12:15.

The evening service will be held at 8 o'clock and if the evening is hot the service will be held in the dining room in the basement which is usually fifteen degrees cooler than upstairs.

A feature of the morning hour will be an exhibit of some of the work done in the summer school arranged for inspection for those who are interested in this work.

The mid-week service on Thursday at 8 p. m. is growing in interest and numbers.

THE DRIVE FOR ECONOMY

General Charles G. Dawes made such an impression upon Washington when he talked of "hell and Maria" before a Congressional committee, that he virtually swore himself into the leadership of one of the biggest attempts in the reform of Government financial methods that has ever been attempted. Having been appointed as Director of the Budget, and with the backing of President Harding, Mr. Dawes gathered all the executive heads in Washington, including the President and members of the Cabinet, into a conference, and after talking to them for an hour they were all enlisted on an equal footing in the effort that is now under way to place the Government upon a basis of economy and efficiency. The budget system simply stands for better business methods in public accounting. This is important enough in itself, but it is the least of the aims which Mr. Dawes seeks to accomplish. He is the leader in the movement which has put the whole government on its mettle to secure economy in carrying on the public business. Besides this the Dawes enthusiasm has inspired a new desire for more efficiency in Government. No one has accused Dawes of being an expert in psychology, but he has nevertheless introduced psychological elements into his work, and the Budget campaign cannot help but be beneficial to the interests of the country.

THE FISCAL

NEW YEAR'S

From New York, the commercial capital, comes the good word that the one hundred and forty-fifth year of our independence dawns with a business renaissance. The optimistic forecasters of Gotham are now looking back upon the post-war commercial crisis and forward to a prosperous activity based upon the contagious confidence that has of late become epidemic among the bellwethers of business.

To be sure no new panacea has appeared to cure the ancient ills of indebtedness, but the efficacy of the old slow but sure treatment for these troubles has made itself apparent in a most significant reduction in bank indebtedness in a great many of our most representative industries.

Those tried fore casters of business weather, the credit men, state that the fiscal New Year's finds a general condition of well being and in some sections, actual prosperity supplanting the depression of the year just passed. The volume of orders being referred for credit far exceeding business done in the past year tells its own story of the clearing of the retailers' shelves. Goods are moving, the inertia of business at a standstill seems to have been overcome. Leaders of business all over the country have heard the bugle call and are at their stations with decks cleared for action.

TO SALVE

"MYSTERY SHIPS"

Following on the heels of widespread conjecture of modern submarine piracy, the numerous press accounts of "mystery ships," it appears that an effort is to be made to wrest sunken treasure from the sea.

The United States Coast Guard service and the Bureau of Navigation of the Department of Commerce have been asked to furnish statistical data covering the cargo vessels lost along the Atlantic coast for the past fifty years.

Salvage concerns making the request claim to have equipment and facilities for major salvage operations except in extreme depths. It is hoped to learn from the authorities the exact positions of sunken vessels and from their underwrites, the value and nature of the cargo laden. It is the intention of the salvors to raise the vessels when possible, and where this is impracticable, to recover the treasure.

Canada Welcomes Those U. S. Excludes

(By United Press)

Montreal, July 9.—"To Canada the United States Immigration Restriction Act must come as a blessing," said Col. J. S. Dennis of the Canadian Pacific railway, who is a recognized authority on immigration and colonization.

"Canada today is in much the same position that the United States was in the beginning of the 19th century. Its great farm area needs settlers to grow food to feed its growing cities and to provide traffic for its railways.

"Now, on account of restriction in the United States, much of the immigration that was headed to the United States will be diverted to Canada—a type of immigrant that has rarely been available to it before.

"Today Canada can get the pick of Europe. There are people wishing to come to the new world who wouldn't dream of coming if Europe were in a settled state. They are the kind Canada can choose carefully and place on its empty farm lands with a maximum of confidence that they will make good."

Mix, as a cowboy, invents many home comforts in this photoplay, some of which may be a help to those who hate to get up early on cold mornings. But he can't think of anything that will keep him out of trouble. He loves excitement, but he fails to see humor in the excitement pursuing him. His big heart opens wide when he finds a baby on a rock. He thinks it has been abandoned. He takes it home to his cabin. The next thing he knows the sheriff is after him for kidnapping. Many other big, thrilling and laugh-provoking scenes are promised in "A Ridin' Romeo," of which Mix himself is the author.

HOME TALENT CARNIVAL PLAN

Brainerd Citizens Plan to Have Carnival of Their Own With Objectionable Features Removed

TO AID THE PARK BOARD FUND

Signatures of 100 Men to Be Obtained to Underwrite Against Any Failure

A meeting was called by people from various organizations about town who object to traveling carnivals of the type we have had lately but who felt that if they deprived the park board of the revenues derived from the carnivals they should substitute some other means of raising the money. The meeting was attended by ladies of the various women's clubs, men from the shops, merchants and clerks, church workers and others.

After lengthy discussions it was decided to put on a home talent carnival, making it similar in all respects to the traveling carnivals but eliminating the objectionable features.

A committee of five was appointed to plan for a permanent organization and to obtain the signatures of 100 men to underwrite the carnival so that in case of failure the park board would be sure of at least the amount of traveling carnival would guarantee them.

The list was started Thursday and in two hours 46 signatures were obtained. The balance will be obtained today.

The committee has several good attractions lined up some of them being, museum of war souvenirs, ferris wheel, merry-go-round, big vaudeville show, local circus, black face show, Red Cross show and many others.

Concessions will be sold to the ladies of the various lodges and churches for the sale of pop corn, peanut candy, ice cream etc. One of Brainerd's most prominent men has promised to sell at least 600 toy balloons.

Many are expected to co-operate in making the carnival a success among them being the Boy Scouts, American Legion, World's War Veterans, Camp fire girls, various churches and lodges, ladies clubs, farm bureaus, Red Cross, Park theatre and many others.

If we all get together we can put over something big and put the park board on its feet financially.

PILLAGER

Pillager, Minn., July 10—G. E. Parsons, Misses Eva and Ethel Parsons, Miss Gerda Larson of St. Cloud and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bennett and family enjoyed a three days' vacation by taking an automobile trip to Itasca state park.

The Security State bank of Pillager has installed a burglar alarm system.

Sam Dowee was in Crosby on business.

Miss Hannah Johnson of St. Paul spent the Fourth with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson.

Miss Helen Donart of Minneapolis was a guest of Pillager friends.

Pillager did not celebrate the Fourth and its citizens went to Brainerd, Motley, Walker and the lakes.

The heavy rain of Saturday night was appreciated by the farmers.

Dictionary's Last Word.

For a long time dictionary makers were content to stop at Zymology and Zymurgy, words that have to do with the science of fermentation. Then somebody came along with Zyxomma. Now the compilers of the Oxford dictionary, begun in 1844 by Murray and the English Philological society have found still another last word: Zyx. This is a Kentish dialect word, coming down from the Fourteenth century, and it means "seest." It hardly seems likely that Zyx will ever be ousted from its place as the last word in the English language.

NEED VOLUNTEERS TO SUPPLY CARS

Brainerd will entertain three conventions within the next thirty days. The citizens of Brainerd have the reputation throughout the state of being hospitable.

The lakes and natural resources are the pride of Brainerd hearts and all want the visitors to see them.

In order to show these natural advantages it will be necessary for all to contribute the use of their automobile to convey the delegates to and from the scenes of interest.

The Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce will be glad to register the names of automobile owners who will volunteer to give the use of their cars for these events.

Brainerd citizens should make these people feel that Brainerd is truly glad to have them here and at the same time advertise the many natural advantages of this community.

ROADS GENERALLY IN GOOD SHAPE

St. Paul, July 9—The Minnesota Highway department today issued a weekly highway condition bulletin showing more than half the mileage of the trunk system in good shape and nearly all remaining mileage in fair condition, stretches rated poor being very few.

Recent rains improved gravel surfaced roads, W. F. Rosenwald, Chief maintenance engineer, explained. A big grade being going on some sections of dirt roads. Altogether, he said, trunk highways are in fully as good condition as last week, despite the heavy wear of July 4th traffic following the long period of dry weather.

The highway department bulletin refers in part to roads near Brainerd as follows:

No. 18—Good, Elk River, Milaca and Brainerd. In detail Elk River, fair, good, Princeton good, Milaca good, Onamia good, Garrison good, Brainerd.

No. 19—Good, fair, Brainerd, Walker and Cass Lake. In detail Brainerd good, Pine River good, Walker construction, fair, Cass Lake.

No. 27—Good, St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd. In detail St. Cloud good, Royalton good, Little Falls good, Fort Ripley fair, Brainerd.

No. 35—Fair, Aitkin, Range Towns and Ely. In detail Mille Lacs Lake fair, Aitkin fair, Hill City fair, Grand Rapids fair, Nashauk construction, fair, Hibbing good, Chisholm good, Buhl good, Virginia good, Gilbert good, Biewahik good, Aurora good, Tower good, Ely.

No. 2—Fair Carlton to Moorhead. In detail Carlton good, sandy, McGregor under construction, rough, Aitkin good, Brainerd sandy, Motley, sandy, Staples good, Wadena good, Detroit good.

The entire bulletin is kept on file at the Dispatch office for the benefit of tourists.

Friction Match First Used in 1827.

The friction match, said to be the invention of John Walker, an English druggist, was introduced in the year 1827. Walker's match consisted of a wooden splint or stick or cardboard coated with sulphur and tipped with a mixture of chlorate of potash, sulphide of antimony and powdered gum. The match was ignited by being drawn through a piece of bent sandpaper.

Steal Model K-45 Five Passenger Buick from Imgrund Auto Co. While Parked at Lum Park

ONE TALL, THE OTHER SHORT

Dressed in Khaki Shirt and Trousers Wore Leather Puttees, Had Been Around Town

The tall and the short man, traced by police Thursday night and believed implicated in the attempted robbery of Dr. J. A. Thabes Buick as it was parked near his home, on Friday night at 11 o'clock stole the Buick of the Imgrund Auto company as it was parked at Lum park on the occasion of the band concert there.

A reward of $100 is offered by the Imgrund Auto Co. for the arrest and conviction of the thieves.

The Imgrund boys had the car at the park and were dancing at the time. A tall man answering the general description given came to the Imgrund car and several boys assisted him to move another car out of the way in order to get the Buick out. He skirted the park and at the gate the short man, his partner, leaped on board and they made off.

The Imgrund's notified the police and sent out telephone and telegraph messages broadcast giving a description of the thieves. It was reported that at midnight a car driven by two men passed through Crosby and they answered the description of the men sought.

Description of Thieves

One is tall and the other short. Both wore khaki shirts and trousers, and had leather puttees. The tall man wore a slouch felt hat and the smaller a cap.

If any Brainerd people know these men they should report to Sheriff Calus A. Theorin.

The Buick Car

The Buick car is a five passenger car, K-45, 1920 model, with motor No. 569,018; frame No. 592,935; 1 Hood spare tire, 1 Firestone record, 1 Goodyear front cord. There was seven to eight gallons of gasoline in the tank, so they would be compelled to stop soon to replenish the gas tank.

School Board Signs Petition to Gain Water for Riverside School in West Brainerd

Thirty-one residents of West Brainerd have appealed to the water and light board for water service in their section of the city and the board has transmitted the petition to the city council for action.

If granted, it will entail a line across the bridge on Laurel street, along Florence street four blocks and with branches running south; running one block on Second street, three blocks on Third street; three blocks on Fourth street; two blocks on Fifth street; one block on Sixth street; being in all 14 blocks of main besides the river bridge approach and would require a bond issue of approximately $25,000 or more.

One of the signers of the petition was the school board of the city which desires water at the Riverside school in West Brainerd.

CHARGED WITH FATAL SHOOTING

Little Falls, Minn., July 9—Homer Green, of Motley, charged with firing the fatal shot at Eugene LeVoy during the riot on Wednesday evening, will have a hearing this afternoon before Municipal Judge Gerritz. Many Motley citizens are here prepared to go on his bonds.

HACKENSACK

Hackensack, Minn., July 10—Hackensack voted to bond the village for $7,000, being $5,000 to take up the outstanding indebtedness and $2,000 for street improvements. Every vote cast was in favor of the proposition.

J. P. Prosser has been awarded the heating and plumbing contract at the new school. The Brainerd man got the $1,700 contract, winning out over a number of other bidders.

Breezy Point Lodge, Pelican Lake, July 9—A 150 bird trap shooting tournament will be held here Sunday under the direction of W. H. Fawcett, owner of "Breezy Point Lodge" and a veteran at the traps. There will be ten 15 bird events with $250 added money.

Trap shooters from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Brainerd and other sections are entered and many will play over for the sportsmen's convention of next week.

Invents Tank Control

Royalton, July 9—Harold Plough, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Plough, has invented an apparatus which will control an electric motor attached to a water tank.

The invention has been put in use at the Plough farm and worked successfully for several months.

The apparatus is made to be placed over a water tank with a plunger reaching to a desired depth in the tank through a tube. When the water becomes low the plunger automatically puts the motor in action and stops when the tank is filled.

HOME TALENT CARNIVAL PLAN

Brainerd Citizens Plan to Have Carnival of Their Own With Objectionable Features Removed

TO AID THE PARK BOARD FUND

A meeting was called by people from various organizations about town who object to traveling carnivals of the type we have had lately but who felt that if they deprived the park board of the revenues derived from the carnivals they should substitute some other means of raising the money. The meeting was attended by ladies of the various women's clubs, men from the shops, merchants and clerks, church workers and others.

After lengthy discussions it was decided to put on a home talent carnival, making it similar in all respects to the traveling carnivals but eliminating the objectionable features.

A committee of five was appointed to plan for a permanent organization and to obtain the signatures of 100 men to underwrite the carnival so that in case of failure the park board would be sure of at least the amount of traveling carnival would guarantee them.

The list was started Thursday and in two hours 46 signatures were obtained. The balance will be obtained today.

The committee has several good attractions lined up some of them being, museum of war souvenirs, ferris wheel, merry-go-round, big vaudeville show, local circus, big face show, Red Cross show and many others.

Cessions will be sold to the ladies of the various lodges and churches for the sale of pop corn, peanut candy, ice cream etc. One of Brainerd's most prominent men has promised to sell at least 600 toy balloons.

Many are expected to co-operate in making the carnival a success among them being the Boy Scouts, American Legion, World's War Veterans, Camp fire girls, various churches and lodges, ladies clubs, farm bureaus, Red Cross, Park theatre and many others.

If we all get together we can put over something big and put the park board on its feet financially.

Sam Dowser was in Crosby on business.

Miss Hannah Johnson of St. Paul spent the Fourth with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson.

Miss Helen Donart of Minneapolis was a guest of Pillager friends. Pillager did not celebrate the Fourth and its citizens went to Brainerd, Motley, Walker and the lakes.

The heavy rain of Saturday night was appreciated by the farmers.

Dictionary's Last Word.

For a long time dictionary makers were content to stop at Zymology and Zymurgy, words that have to do with the science of fermentation. Then somebody came along with Zyxomma. Now the compilers of the Oxford dictionary, begun in 1844 by Murray and the English Philological society have found still another last word: Zyx. This is a Kentish dialect word, coming down from the Fourteenth century, and it means "soot." It hardly seems likely that Zyx will ever be ousted from its place as the last word in the English language.

NEED VOLUNTEERS TO SUPPLY CARS

Brainerd will entertain three conventions within the next thirty days. The citizens of Brainerd have the reputation throughout the state of being hospitable.

The lakes and natural resources are the pride of Brainerd hearts and all want the visitors to see them.

In order to show these natural advantages it will be necessary for all to contribute the use of their automobile to convey the delegates to and from the scenes of interest.

The Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce will be glad to register the names of automobile owners who will volunteer to give the use of their cars for these events.

Brainerd citizens should make these people feel that Brainerd is truly glad to have them here and at the same time advertise the many natural advantages of this community.

ROADS GENERALLY IN GOOD SHAPE

St. Paul, July 9—The Minnesota Highway department today issued a weekly highway condition bulletin showing more than half the mileage of the trunk system in good shape and nearly all remaining mileage in fair condition, stretches rated poor being very few.

Recent rains improved gravel surfaced roads, W. F. Rosenwald, chief maintenance engineer, explained, but made heavy going on some sections of dirt roads. Altogether, he said, trunk highways are in fully as good condition as last week, despite the heavy wear of July 4th traffic following the long period of dry weather.

The highway department bulletin refers in part to roads near Brainerd as follows:

No. 18—Good, Elk River, Milaca and Brainerd. In detail Elk River, fair, good, Princeton good, Milaca good, Onamia good, Garrison good, Brainerd.

No. 19—Good, fair, Brainerd, Walker and Cass Lake. In detail Brainerd good, Pine River good, Walker construction, fair, Cass Lake.

No. 27—Good, St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd. In detail St. Cloud good, Royalton good, Little Falls good, Fort Ripley fair, Brainerd.

No. 35—Fair, Aitkin, Range Towns and Ely. In detail Mille Lacs Lake fair, Aitkin fair, Hill City fair, Grand Rapids fair, Nashauk construction, fair, Hibbing good, Chisholm good, Buhl good, Virginia good, Gilbert good, Biewabik good, Aurora good, Tower good, Ely.

No. 2—Fair Carlton to Moorhead. In detail Carlton good, sandy, McGregor under construction, rough, Aitkin good, Brainerd sandy, Motley, sandy, Staples good, Wadena good, Detroit good.

The entire bulletin is kept on file at the Dispatch office for the benefit of tourists.

Friction Match First Used in 1827.

The friction match, said to be the invention of John Walker, an English druggist, was introduced in the year 1827. Walker's match consisted of a wooden splint or stick or cardboard coated with sulphur and tipped with a mixture of chlorate of potash, sulphide of antimony and powdered gum. The match was ignited by being drawn through a piece of bent sandpaper.

His "Right Hand Man"

By DOROTHY WHITCOMB

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

After five years of hard work Wilfred Ashton walked down the steps of the great little factory he had dominated, a ruined man. The plant was in the hands of a receiver, and he was a bankrupt.

Wardells had done this—Wardells, the upstarts, the business pirates. The elder of that firm had been taken in off the street penniless by Ashton, had been given work, had learned the secrets of the business, and had gone out to exploit them on his own account. The rival house manufactured a counting machine. In some way Wardell had secured the sole right to manufacture a machine the sale of which was Ashton's chief source of revenue. Trade fell off. Wardells spread and flourished like a green bayonet tree. Ashton & Co. went down hill, fast.

And now—ruin! Reckoning up anxiously, Wilfred had found that the plant and his other resources would pay off about seventy-five per cent of the debts. He reached the office of his lawyer, dejected and hopeless.

"We have an offer for the assets in bulk," explained the attorney. "It will square the secured indebtedness entirely. It will also take care of all the other liabilities, except about two thousand dollars."

"If I could only reach that!" exclaimed Wilfred. "It is those creditors, small, struggling firms, that need their money. Is there no way I can reach this deficit?"

"A way has been opened," announced the lawyer, "a remarkable one. There is the list of the unsecured creditors," and he pushed over a written page, "and here is two thousand, handed to me by a brother attorney, representing a mysterious client who does not wish to be known."

"You amaze me," cried Wilfred, his face shining, his eyes filling with grateful tears. "Who could have done me this kind act?"

Wilfred signed the I. O. U. extended to him by the lawyer. His heart seemed singing within him.

He was trending air as he left the lawyer's office.

His face brightened when he was home again, with thoughts of the true, loyal persons who had been not only his employees, but his friends. Miss Bonney! His heart gladdened as he recalled the occasion, three years before, when he had given this poor, friendless girl, a position in his office. Her gratitude, urging the most devoted service, had made him respect and value her. She had been "his right-hand man."

Wilfred found her in a neat, modest cottage, her aged mother its housekeeper. She blushed and paled, and looked wistful and then trembled, as he handed her the money. Her eyes glowed sympathetically with his own when he told of his unknown benefactor.

"I shall not forget the most helpful assistant I ever had, when I got on my feet again," said Wilfred brightly. "I am very sorry to see you out of employment."

"Oh, I shall soon find a new position," declared Amy.

"It seems to me that I am receiving nothing but blessing in my own darkest hour," replied Wilfred, movingly.

"There is another thing," said Amy. "You remember Mr. Judson, the old inventor who was hurt at your plant? You pensioned him off, you know. Ever since then he has been trying to invent a new counting machine. I—that is, I have encouraged him. He was here yesterday, and he is sure, oh, so very sure, that he is near to perfecting his invention."

Two evenings later a messenger brought Wilfred a note, asking him to call at the home of Miss Bonney. When he arrived he found old Abel Judson there.

"I've made it!" cried the inventor enthusiastically. "My invention is perfected—a counting machine that will drive Wardells out of the field."

Only one thing would the inventor agree to—that Wilfred was to become his partner. In three months capital was found. In six the old plant was running again. At the end of the year Wilfred and Amy were man and wife.

"I am making money so fast," he said to his happy helpmate one evening, "that I will be able to pay up the two thousand dollars so generously given me when I failed."

Amy reached within her pocket. She drew out a scrap of paper. In amazement Wilfred regarded the I. O. U.

"Don't you understand?" she cried in delight, and tore the document to scraps—"paid!"

"You—you furnished that money?" exclaimed the dumfounded Wilfred. "Yes, my all for you, the bravest, truest friend I ever knew," replied Amy rapidly, "and now the dearest, best husband in all the world!"

A New Angle.

"So you always turn over your pay to your wife?"

"Yes, always."

"And does she appreciate it?"

"No, she usually depreciates it!"—Pennsylvania State Froth.

Story Needed Confirmation.

"Johnny, did you know that I was going to marry your sister?"

"Well, I heard her say so, but she's had that idea about so many other fellows that I didn't feel sure about it. All you told me."—Boston Transcript.

Use Found for Scrub Palmetto.

Florida swamps have thousands of acres of scrub palmetto that has enormous wide-spreading roots that were a nuisance until a recent discovery made plain that the fiber in the root was useful for fiber brushes. Now vast districts are to be cleared ultimately and the roots sold, the fiber being equal to the imported material used now.

DISASTER COMES WITH RAIN

Algerian Native Houses Are Built to Afford Shelter Only From the Sun's Rays.

In Algeria one of the perplexing biblical puzzles of my childhood was set at rest, writes Temple Manning in the Chicago Journal. Until I went there I had never been able to figure out exactly what was meant by the passage in the Bible that reads: "How can we make bricks, for we have no more straw?"

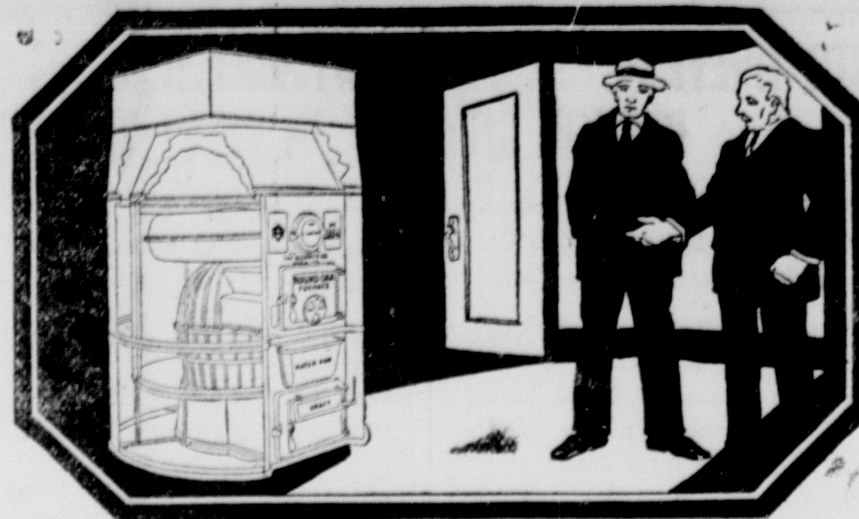

But when I saw the Algerians make bricks by incising short straws in the mud of the fields, patting the bricks into shape, and drying them in the sun, the mystery was explained. And then one day when it rained I wondered why they ever did it.

Fortunately it seldom rains in Algeria, but that day it rained as I never saw it rain before or since. The very heavens seemed to open and the celestial reservoir to empty itself within a few hours. A veritable river gathered in the streets and ran from house to house throughout the little village, and every once in a while I heard through the darkness of noonday a dull splash.

The next morning I waded through the village to see what had happened, and I found whole families camping out on the highest ground, for their houses had melted away. Rain comes so seldom that the natives do not include it in their scheme of life; they build their houses for the sunny days. And when the rain comes their mud-brick houses, unless strongly white-washed, and they seldom are, fall down and melt into mud heaps.

Then the whole family goes camping until the house is rebuilt. "Tu cha Allah!" smiles the serene owner—"It is the will of God."

His "Right Hand Man"

By DOROTHY WHITCOMB

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

After five years of hard work Wilfred Ashton walked down the steps of the great little factory he had dominated, a ruined man. The plant was in the hands of a receiver, and he was a bankrupt.

Wardells had done this—Wardells, the upstarts, the business pirates. The elder of that firm had been taken in off the street penniless by Ashton, had been given work, had learned the secrets of the business, and had gone out to exploit them on his own account. The rival house manufactured a counting machine. In some way Wardell had secured the sole right to manufacture a machine the sale of which was Ashton's chief source of revenue. Trade fell off. Wardells spread and flourished like a green hollyhock tree. Ashton & Co. went down hill, fast.

And now—ruin! Reckoning up anxiously, Wilfred had found that the plant and his other resources would pay off about seventy-five per cent of the debts. He reached the office of his lawyer, dejected and hopeless.

"We have an offer for the assets in bulk," explained the attorney. "It will square the secured indebtedness entirely. It will also take care of all the other liabilities, except about two thousand dollars."

"If I could only reach that!" exclaimed Wilfred. "It is those creditors, small, struggling firms, that need their money. Is there no way I can reach this deficit?"

"A way has been opened," announced the lawyer, "a remarkable one. There is the list of the unsecured creditors," and he pushed over a written page, "and here is two thousand, handed to me by a brother attorney, representing a mysterious client who does not wish to be known."

"You amaze me," cried Wilfred, his face shining, his eyes filling with grateful tears. "Who could have done me this kind act?"

Wilfred signed the I. O. U. extended to him by the lawyer. His heart seemed singing within him.

He was trembling as he left the lawyer's office.

His face brightened when he was home again, with thoughts of the true, loyal persons who had been not only his employees, but his friends. Miss Bonney! His heart gladdened as he recalled the occasion, three years before, when he had given this poor, friendless girl, a position in his office. Her gratitude, urging the most devoted service, had made him respect and value her. She had been "his right-hand man."

Wilfred found her in a neat, modest cottage, her aged mother its housekeeper. She blushed and paled, and looked wistful and then trembled, as he handed her the money. Her eyes glowed sympathetically with his own when he told of his unknown benefactor.

"I shall not forget the most helpful assistant I ever had, when I get on my feet again," said Wilfred brightly. "I am very sorry to see you out of employment."

"Oh, I shall soon find a new position," declared Amy.

"It seems to me that I am receiving nothing but blessing in my own darkest hour," replied Wilfred, movingly.

"There is another thing," said Amy. "You remember Mr. Judson, the old inventor who was hurt at your plant? You pensioned him off, you know. Ever since then he has been trying to invent a new counting machine. I—that is, I have encouraged him. He was here yesterday, and he is sure, oh, so very sure, that he is near to perfecting his invention."

Two evenings later a messenger brought Wilfred a note, asking him to call at the home of Miss Bonney. When he arrived he found old Abel Judson there.

"I've made it!" cried the inventor enthusiastically. "My invention is perfected—a counting machine that will drive Wardells out of the field."

Only one thing would the inventor agree to—that Wilfred was to become his partner. In three months capital was found, in six the old plant was running again. At the end of the year Wilfred and Amy were man and wife.

"I am making money so fast," he said to his happy helpmate one evening, "that I will be able to pay up the two thousand dollars so generously given me when I failed."

Amy reached within her pocket. She drew out a scrap of paper. In amazement Wilfred regarded the I. O. U.

"Don't you understand?" she cried in delight, and tore the document to scraps—"paid!"

"You—you furnished that money?" exclaimed the dumfounded Wilfred. "Yes, my all for you, the bravest, truest friend I ever knew," replied Amy simply, "and now the dearest, best husband in all the world!"

A New Angle.

"So you always turn over your pay to your wife?"

"Yes, always."

"And does she appreciate it?"

"No, she usually depreciates it!"—Pennsylvania State Froth.

Story Needed Confirmation.

"Johnny, did you know that I was going to marry your sister?"

"Well, I heard her say so, but she's had that idea about so many other fellows that I didn't feel sure about it. If you told me,"—Boston Transcript.

Use Found for Scrub Palmetto.

Florida swamps have thousands of acres of scrub palmetto that has enormous wide-spreading roots that were a nuisance until a recent discovery made plain that the fiber in the root was useful for fiber brushes. Now vast districts are to be cleared ultimately and the roots sold, the fiber being equal to the imported material used now.

DISASTER COMES WITH RAIN

Algerian Native Houses Are Built to Afford Shelter Only From the Sun's Rays.

In Algeria one of the perplexing biblical puzzles of my childhood was set at rest, writes Temple Manning in the Chicago Journal. Until I went there I had never been able to figure out exactly what was meant by the passage in the Bible that reads: "How can we make bricks, for we have no more straw?"

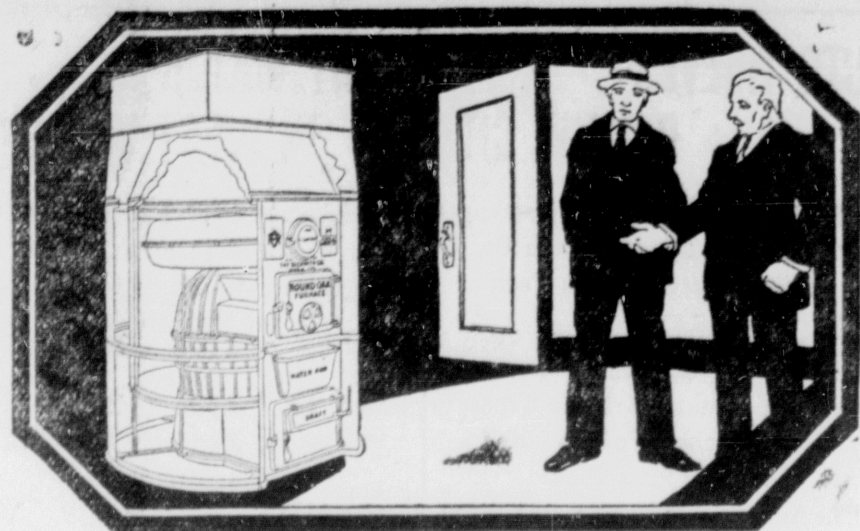

But when I saw the Algerians make bricks by incising short straws in the mud of the fields, patting the bricks into shape, and drying them in the sun, the mystery was explained. And then one day when it rained I wondered why they ever did it.

Fortunately it seldom rains in Algeria, but that day it rained as I never saw it rain before or since. The very heavens seemed to open and the celestial reservoir to empty itself within a few hours. A veritable river gathered in the streets and ran from house to house throughout the little village, and every once in a while I heard through the darkness of noonday a dull splash.

The next morning I waded through the village to see what had happened, and I found whole families camping out on the highest ground, for their houses had melted away. Rain comes so seldom that the natives do not include it in their scheme of life; they build their houses for the sunny days. And when the rain comes their mud-brick houses, unless strongly white-washed, and they seldom are, fall down and melt into mud heaps.

Then the whole family goes camping until the house is rebuilt. "Tu cha Allah!" smiles the serene owner—"It is the will of God."

Advertisers in the Daily Dispatch

Now get the same cut service as the big city dailies.

We have made arrangements with the Murray Illustrated Advertising Company of New York, for the furnishing of cuts for advertising purposes absolutely free to our patrons. This service is the best in America and has as clients some of the largest newspapers published.

Never before has it been possible for a paper to furnish this service without a considerable added outlay on the part of the advertiser, and even now it is only offered to the paper recognized by advertisers and readers as the leader in its section.

The Dispatch buys the cuts; the advertiser pays for the space in the paper at the same rate as for other advertising. Many of our patrons have already taken advantage of this offer and others are invited to do so.

We will be glad to explain the matter more fully
